

ABSTRACT

A depressed collector for recovery of spent beam energy from electromagnetic sources emitting sheet or large aspect ratio annular electron beams operating over a broad range of beam voltages and currents. The collector incorporates a trap for capturing and preventing the return of reflected and secondary electrons.

13